

2019 CALL FOR POSTER ABSTRACTS

Population Health Summit VI¹:

Becoming the Healthiest State for People of All Ages - Incorporating Health Across all Policies and Age Friendly Principles into the New York State Prevention Agenda 2019 - 2024

8:45 am – 4:30 pm

February 28, 2019

Empire State Plaza, Albany New York

On behalf of the Planning Committee for the 2019 Population Health Summit, the University at Albany School of Public Health in collaboration with the New York State Public Health Association invites you to submit an abstract for poster presentation. Submissions may include case studies, original research, or project proposals for public feedback. Priority will be given to abstracts submitted by community coalitions on projects advanced as part of their Prevention Agenda activities. Topics may include, but are not limited to:

- Progress and challenges in creating coalitions, setting priorities, implementing and evaluating local Prevention Agenda related community health improvement efforts led by local health departments, hospitals, community-based organizations, coalitions, community health centers, or other anchor institutions;
- The results of community based population health interventions to address social (broader) determinants of health and/or racial, ethnic, socio economic health disparities as part of the Prevention Agenda and/or DSRIP Domain 3 and 4 goals; or
- Population health strategies that connect primary care practices with community based efforts to address social determinants of health and health disparities.

This call is open to public health professionals, community practitioners, hospital leaders, public officials, leaders from sectors promoting health, business leaders, and researchers and students across these sectors and disciplines, (e.g. public health, economic, community development, business, medicine, pharmacology, education, transportation, and urban planning).

¹ Sponsored by: Institute for Family Health, IPRO, HANYS, the Health Foundation of Western and Central NY, the NYS Department of Health/Health Research Inc., the NY Academy of Medicine, the NYS Association of County Health Officials, the NYS Health Foundation, the NYS Podiatric Medical Association, the NYS Public Health Association, the NYU Langone Medical School, the Primary Care Development Corporation, the RWJF County Health Rankings, the United Hospital Fund and the University at Albany School of Public Health

Student submissions are strongly encouraged.

Participating in the poster presentation provides an opportunity to:

- showcase your work to over 300 diverse professionals interested in advancing population health;
- obtain feedback on your work;
- network with summit attendees; and
- contribute to the advancement of population health in New York State.

Deadline for Abstracts: January 3, 2019 5:00 p.m. (EST)

The Poster Session will be held concurrent with Summit activities and feature a dedicated viewing in the early afternoon for poster presenters and attendees to engage in discussion about the featured poster.

Each abstract should not exceed 500 words (not including titles, names and organization and learning objectives) and should include the following:

- Basic Info
 - Poster Title
 - Authors and Affiliations
 - Name, email address and telephone number for the corresponding author
 - Name, email address and telephone number for the presenting author (if different from corresponding author)
 - Learning objectives
 - Partners in the intervention
- Content (500 words (or less))
 - Describing the population health activity or intervention, policy or study (if submitting a research study, please include information about the research methodology e.g. design, analysis and results), target audience, importance, as well as changes in health processes, outputs, or outcomes.
- Lead presenter's bio sketch, (not to exceed 250 words).
- Please identify any potential conflicts of interests.

In preparing your abstract, please consider the Planning Committee's working definition of total population health that informs the Summit:

*“As health reform efforts in New York State proceed to drive the improvement of the health of populations either receiving clinical care and/or insured by a specific program, it is important to align these ‘enrollee’ and ‘panel’ population health efforts with broader initiatives to achieve ‘total’ population health.
Improving total population health means improving the health and wellbeing of all people in a population in a given geographic area while eliminating health inequities.*

Substantive partnerships with communities, and across sectors affecting health (including but not limited to public health, healthcare, housing, education, and social services), as well as shared responsibility/accountability and supportive financing models, are required to achieve these goals. “

Applicants will be notified regarding their acceptance by COB January 17, 2019. Selected participants will be asked to set up their poster at the Summit on February 28, 2019 by 8:30 am and be present between 12:00-2:00 pm to answer questions. Dimensions for the poster should be 36 inches tall and 60 inches wide. Abstracts for posters previously presented in other conferences may be submitted.

Each poster abstract that is accepted will include one registration (conference is free, but there is a maximum number of participants). The presenting author will be registered automatically.

Poster abstract applications should be submitted to:

intern@nyspha.org

Please direct all questions concerning this call for poster abstracts to:

intern@nyspha.org

Register to attend the Population Health Summit through this link.